One Excellent Program that Our Chapter Enjoys is called:

Alan Rammer – 3 time winner of the WA. Marine Educator of the Year Award

Describe this program:

Alan's program includes beachcombing along with his many travels and experiences around the world. All the water systems in the world eventually empty into the oceans. Our oceans become our toilet bowls. There is a humorous story for every shell, bone, or dried animal he brings in a large box.

What makes this program excellent? (3 take aways)

_It's an interactive program asking questions. Why is all salmon pink or red? What five largest sea creatures can be found in Washington state waters? There are six pieces of plastic for every sea animal. Alan has created a brochure for Good Manners to explore Wa. Beaches.

How does your chapter decide on programs for the year? (Use the back if necessary)

I have tried passing out request slips or questionnaires, but never received more than two suggestions. I love to learn and love variety, so every article in the paper becomes a possibility. I ask for ideas at our Board Meetings

Would this program be one to present at Fall Board or State Convention? Yes
