

Social Bonding in Schools & Classrooms: strategies & practices that work

Join Ben Ibale, Human and Civil Rights Coordinator, WEA Center for Educational Quality, in a 3 hour presentation on the role of educator – student relationships to increase student hope and resiliency, the greatest factor towards graduation and student success. The training focuses a lens on equity, inclusion and cultural competency as a means for improving student engagement and classroom management. North Kitsap educators will appreciate the extensions to last August workshop with Ben that will be provided through specific classroom strategies and practices. Those from other districts will gain from both the specific practices and the overview provided.
